Marshmallows Are GudFud

4:45 PM PDT, July 24, 2007, updated at 5:03 PM PDT, July 24, 2007

Picked up some squishy candy news from the always sweet Junk Food Blog about a new Japanese-inspired candy that's now out: GudFud, which is actually pronounced "gooood food." According to their website, GudFud is "yummy foods and fun stuff that make you smile." Though perhaps you should brush first after eating and before smiling--you know how marshmallows can get stuck in your teeth. The GudFud offerings are only two at the moment, marshmallows stuffed with chocolate and marshmallows stuffed with fruit jelly. I think bringing either of these in to share with co-workers is a good idea, by the way (in case any of my co-workers are reading this), and you can buy in six-packs and in a box with a bow on their site.
