without indulging in a million calories!

This Japanese-type treat is not overly sweet and I, not a huge chocolate lover, loved the chocolate ones the most! The fruit jellies come with one of each flavour – grape, strawberry and orange – and are a fun way to perk up during the doozies in the afternoon!

This is way more fun than a chocolate bar or a cinnamon roll, don't you think?

I say buy the big box and bring them into the office for everyone to enjoy.

Lucky me, I'm an employee of one!

the knack difference

Everything on the knack that I write about is tried and tested by me. That way, you get more than just a press release - you get a real experience with the product. I can tell you how it smells, looks and works.

I try to write about products and services that you may not know about or things that will improve your life.

You will always receive my honest opinions and thoughts and no one can buy my favourable reviews. They come by my carefully selecting products and then trying them.

Many thanks for reading and your ongoing support!
